

Chemicals can irritate and burn the skin and causing damage to other body parts that can sometimes be life-threatening. These can occur in industry or in the home, from common household products. They can also occur from malicious acid attacks. Anyone with affected will need emergency help as soon as possible.

First Aid for Chemical Burns

- 1 Rinse the chemical off the skin with cool, gently running water for at least 20 minutes.
- 2 Remove any contaminated clothing and jewelry.
- 3 Gently wrap the burnt area with dry sterile gauze or clean cloth if available.
- 4 Take the casualty to a doctor

- Do not try to neutralize the chemical with acid/alkali.
- Do not apply ointment or other topical treatments.

Chemical in The Eye

- 1 Tilt the head so that the injured eye is downward, thus preventing the chemical to run into unaffected part.
- 2 Keep the eye open gently with your fingers and rinse out the eye with cold running water for 10-15 minutes.
- 3 Apply a loose sterile eye dressing or a clean piece of cloth over the injured eye.
- 4 Take the casualty to a doctor.
